

SASH-DOOR TRUST IS DISSOLVED

Western Mfr. Co. to be no More

TWO LA CROSSE FIRMS IN

Segelke-Kohlhaus and R. C. Kuhn Companies are Reticent

In accordance with plans outlined a few days ago, the Western Manufacturing company, which includes the two big La Crosse sash and door companies, the R. C. Kuhn company and Segelke-Kohlhaus company, will be dissolved.

Nearly every prominent sash and door manufacturing company in the state of Wisconsin is in the organization, and no reason is known for the dissolution, as the corporation is known to be in a prosperous condition.

Plants in Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Chicago and a number of other cities began business on Jan. 1, 1904, with a capital of $500,000 in the hands of twelve large stockholders. It has been regarded as one of the strongest combinations of its kind. C. W. Radford, Oshkosh, is president. Nathaniel Greene, Chicago, formerly secretary to Congressman Theobald Otjen, is secretary and assistant manager. No reason for disbanding is given by the members.

A constantly increasing business is said to have been done, as the concern practically controlled the market. Orders for certain kinds of work were turned over to the plant best equipped to do it.

The membership of the concern in July was as follows: Curtis & Yale Co., Wausau; Curtis & Yale Co., Milwaukee; Cream City Sash & Door Co., Milwaukee; Foster-Lothman mills, Oshkosh; Gould Manufacturing Co., Oshkosh; R. C. Kuhn S. & D. Co., La Crosse; Morgan Co., Oshkosh; R. McMillen Co., Oshkosh; Moore & Galloway Lumber Co., Fond du Lac; Paine Lumber Co., Oshkosh; Radford Bros. & Co., Oshkosh; Rockwell Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee; Segelke & Kohlhaus, La Crosse; O. C. Steenberg Co., Fond du Lac; Williamson & Libbey Lumber Co., Oshkosh; Werheim Manufacturing Co., Wausau.

The La Crosse companies refused to talk when approached today.

DID NOT ATTACK HER HUSBAND WITH A KNIFE

Mrs. Peter Gorder of the north side regarding whose domestic troubles a story was recently published denies today that she ever chased her husband, Peter Gorder, with a butcher knife. She admits having slapped him and called him names upon just provocation, but asserts he deserved all the harsh treatment he received from her. Mrs. Gorder says she does not blame the young man's relatives with a couple of exceptions. Gorder, she says, went to the west leaving her without money. She is now residing with her mother in Onalaska and has heard nothing from Gorder since his departure.

STEAMER WENT ON ROCKS IN STORM

Mate's Body Found Clinging to Half-Adjusted Life Preserver

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.) ST. MALO, Nov. 20.—Definite information on the wreck of the steamer Hilda is lacking. Reports this morning from various points on the coast state that 51 bodies have been recovered. Fifteen were washed ashore at Brest.

Ninety-Nine Lost.

ST. MALO, Nov. 20.—It is difficult to obtain even the most meagre details of occurrences aboard the Hilda. It is stated Captain Gregory fired rockets which were answered by the keepers of the Jardin lighthouse. Apparently the replies were unseen or misinterpreted. So far 57 bodies have been washed ashore, among them Captain Gregory and Chief Officer Pearson.

Went Onto Rocks.

Evidences show Capt. Gregory lost his bearing in a driving snow storm, and the Hilda struck the rocks and sank, the water reached the boilers causing an explosion which broke the ship into three pieces. The body of the mate was found dead his hand clasping a life belt which he had not time to adjust. It is presumed the casualties are 99.

JOHN DAHLGREN MURDERED IN WEST

La Crosse Man Probably Meets Death in Strange Way at Topeka, Kansas

Word was received here today of the murder of John Dahlgren, a La Crosse man, at Topeka, Kas. No particulars were obtainable.

John Dahlgren was the son of J. W. Dahlgren of 1729 Market street and lived in this city for many years. He was a young man, having only within the past three years learned the barber's trade. For a time he conducted the shop just west of Third street on Main. He left here last spring and went to Montana, later going to Kansas, where his folks last heard from him.

La Crosse relatives have not ascertained positively yet whether the victim is their relative, but as the name is the same and as the La Crosse man was in aKnsas there is small doubt of the identity of the victim.

SPENCE, WINTER AND FOWLER NAMED

Three La Crosse Men Appointed on State Civil Service Board of Commissioners

Civil service examiners for La Crosse county have been appointed by the state civil service commission at Madison. Notice of the appointment of Prof. Harry Spence, Frank Winter and Prof. F. H. Fowler has been received from Secretary Doty.

The law putting state positions under civil service, passed by the last legislature, provides that competitive examinations shall be held simultaneously in all the assembly districts of the state. An examination will usually occupy not to exceed one day, and it should not be found necessary to hold more than two, or possibly three general examinations throughout the year.

Local boards will not be required to prepare questions or to mark papers. Their principal and most important duty is to protect the state by seeing to it that all applicants for examination receive absolute justice and that no one is given an advantage. In addition to his, local examiners can be of much assistance to the civil service commission in keeping the local public informed concerning the plans of the commission.

The state commission comprises S. E. Sparling, president, Madison; T. J. Cunningham, Chippewa Falls; Otto Gaffron, Plymouth. F. E. Doty of Madison is secretary and chief examiner.

"COFFEE" BEATS A DRUMMER AND IS FINED

Although there was a probability of mitigating circumstances Judge Brindley had to find "Coffee" Craig guilty of assault, in the county court this morning, and imposed a fine of $10 and costs.

The complaining witness was a traveling man, who bore marks of the encounter which he had last night in the alley back of the La Crosse hotel.

According to the story "Coffee" told the judge, a number of the residents of "Darktown" were gathered in the home of a colored family on North Second street, enjoying a social evening, when the traveling man "batted in" and made an insulting proposal to the lady of the house. Justly incensed she stirred up the men in the party with the result that "Coffee" and a couple of his friends followed the salesman and the fight followed.

WILD DEER ROAMS GRANDDAD BLUFF

Creature Seen Yesterday by John Zimler, a Quarryman

That there is a deer roaming wild within a few miles of the city limits several residents of the city are assured. A week ago two hunters saw the animal in the vicinity of Medary. Again yesterday John Zimler, an employe of the stone quarry on Granddad bluff, saw the deer just a short distance from the quarry. The animal stood out in the open on a high knoll and gazed out over the city. Zimler says he could easily have shot the animal from where he stood, it being less than 1500 yards away.

NOBLOCK PROVES AN ALIBI

Three Alleged Boy Bandits Tried

EACH SWEARS INNOCENCE

Witnesses Say They Did not Meet Each Other on Night of Robbery

Defendants in the case of the state against Knoblock, Martineau and Craig were placed on the stand in their own behalf in circuit court this morning and endeavored to prove alibis.

All said they were elsewhere about town at the time the assault and robbery of Peter Jorten and Ole Amundson was committed at the Northwestern depot. Knoblock was especially clear in his testimony as to his whereabouts during every minute of that night. According to his statement he did not meet the other two boys until about 1 o'clock in the morning, two hours after the robbery was committed. He was only slightly acquainted with them, he said, and had not associated with them during the week of the fair. They met accidentally, he testified, late in the night on which the assault was committed, in the gambling house over the Hub saloon, where they were all watching players at the roulette wheel.

Knoblock said he was 18 years old and lived in Decatur, Ill. He was a waiter by profession but during the past summer had been running a cane rack for a man named Collins. He made a contract with Andrew Boyd of the Interstate Fair association for the privilege of running a hand striking machine here. The contract was introduced in evidence. Witness testified he got a letter from his employer at Hastings containing five dollars during fair week. This letter he said was taken from him when he was searched at central police station.

Knoblock said he was alone the night of the assault. Early in the evening he sat on the grass in the court house park, later went to the Palm Garden and from there to the Hub saloon, where he met Craig, Martineau and a boy named Roberts.

Witness said he had not associated with Martineau and Craig during the week. He had seen them around but was not intimately acquainted with them.

On cross examination he said he had first met Craig in Winnipeg in August and did not see him again until he met him in Preston the week before the La Crosse fair. On the night of the assault Knoblock said he was in the Palm Garden from 9 until 12:30 when the place closed. He met the other two defendants in the gambling house over the Hub saloon after this. From there he went to the restaurant, where Martineau and Craig had preceded him. The arrests were made there.

At the completion of Knoblock's examination Attorney Withrow made a motion for the release of Martineau and Knoblock. The motion was overruled.

Defendant Craig was put on the stand. He testified he was 18 years old and born in Winnipeg, Canada. Witness said he worked fairs all through Minnesota up to the time of the La Crosse fair. He worked on the fair grounds during the week for a man named Horne, who ran a couple of stands. Witness said he slept on the grounds until Friday night when he got a room at the Bronson. On the night of the assault he

If You Suffer

From Germ Troubles, Please Learn What Liquozone Can Do.

Thousands who were sick—like you, perhaps—are well to-day because of Liquozone. Many had doctored long. Many were discouraged because other treatments had failed. But they were treating germ diseases with remedies which do not kill germs.

We offered to buy them a bottle of Liquozone—just as we offer you. They did with it what other remedies failed to accomplish. And those countless cured ones—scattered everywhere—are now telling others what Liquozone has done.

Kills Disease Germs.

Contact with Liquozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases. They are generated from the best producers of oxygen, sulphur dioxide and other germicidal gases. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. The object is to so fix the gases, and to combine them, as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

We purchased the American rights to Liquozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. To-day there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquozone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In the last few years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—that Liquozone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are the diseases in which Liquozone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.

Asthma—Anemia—Gout—Gonorrhea—Gleet—Hay Fever—Influenza—La Grippe—Leucorrhea—Malaria—Neuralgia—Piles—Quinsy—Rheumatism—Scrofula—Syphilis—Tuberculosis—Typhoid—Typhus—Venereal Disease—Eczema—Erysipelas—Fever—Gallstones—Throat Trouble

Also most forms of the following: Kidney Troubles—Liver Troubles—Stomach Troubles—Women's Diseases—Fever, inflammation or catarrh—Impure or poisoned blood—usually indicate a germ attack. In nervous debility Liquozone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing remarkable results.

50c. Bottle Free.

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and will pay the druggist ourselves for it. STUDY OPERATION OF LARGE PLANT

Thirty members of the senior class of the college of engineering of the University of Wisconsin under the direction of three professors are spending this week inspecting important engineering plants in the east. This trip, which is taken annually, is designed to familiarize the students with the operation of large electrical and machinery plants of the country. Two days will be spent at Niagara Falls and Buffalo visiting the Niagara Falls and the Canadian power companies which utilize the water power of the falls; the Lackawanna Steel works, and the large elevators and dry docks at Buffalo. At Pittsburg the party will inspect the Westinghouse electric, machine and air brake plants, the large window and flint glass manufactures, the Nernst Electric Lamp company, the Pressed Steel Car company, and other large electrical machinery companies. The itinerary will also include the Brooks Locomotive works at Dunkirk, Pa., and the large iron mills and furnaces at Homestead and McKeesport, Pa.

THOUSANDS OF FISH TO BE FROZEN

Wisconsin fishermen and farmers who live on the Mississippi bottoms, predict the destruction of thousands of game fish this winter by freezing. They make the prediction advisedly, they say. The high water of the past summer has caused thousands of game fish to leave the Mississippi and for months at a time they lived in the shallow water which completely covered the lowlands and portions of the islands. About five weeks ago there was a rapid decline in the big river with the result that the fish were trapped, as it were, and unable to get back to the main waters. The ponds and lakes which were formed by the rapid recession of the water are shallow. The majority of them not being more than three or four feet in depth at the lowest places.

"An exceedingly cold winter," remarked a Wisconsin man who was at Eagle Point today, "would freeze these ponds and lakes to the bottom. This would mean death to every fish in them. I know it to be a fact that there are several ponds near my home which contain an abundance of game fish which will be frozen to death when the winter sets in. The fish laws of Wisconsin are strenuous severe and it is next to an impossibility for seiners to work without being detected by the lynx-eyed fish wardens. In my opinion it would be proper for the Wisconsin state authorities to employ a force of seiners to drag every shallow pond before they freeze and place the fish found in them back in the Mississippi. The fact of the fish being allowed to remain in the shallow waters means sure death to them by freezing. They are then worthless for food and are a total loss. In the event of the fish not being liberated by the state I would consider it only a humane method to allow any seiner to take the fish and use them for food or dispose of them as they saw fit."

"Last spring thousands of dead fish, frozen to death in the ice, lined the shores of every pond and lake on the wisconsin bottoms and the same condition will exist next spring, only on a vastly enlarged scale. The stench coming from them is obnoxious and can be detected for miles. Near Sunfish lake and other ponds, close to the Wisconsin end of the Eagle Point high bridge, the condition prevailed last spring to the extent that I know of Wisconsin farmers who did not come to town because of the fearful odor that they would have to pass through along the Mississippi bottoms."

Study Social Problems of Large Cities

Forty students of sociology at the University of Wisconsin under the direction of Professor Jerome Dowd are spending this week in studying sociological conditions in Chicago and Milwaukee. The purpose of the trip is to acquaint the students of this subject with the sociological problems of the large cities and the practical methods employed by the important social, penal, and charitable institutions in dealing with these matters. The party will inspect the industrial school for boys at Waukesha, the county hospital and poor house at Wauwatosa, and the University of Wisconsin social settlement in Milwaukee. Among the places they will visit in Chicago are the Hull House settlement, The Chicago Commons, the Cook county hospital, the bureau of identification, and the Salvation Rescue Home.

Under an order which went into effect November 1, patrons of the rural mail service are obliged to purchase stamps for their outgoing mail matter instead of leaving the change in the mail box. Carriers now decline to take letters not bearing stamps and ignore the coppers in the box.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicines cured me. It relieved me from the first dose, and I kept right on till the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it."

JOHN H. SHERMAN, Beiding, Mich.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

STAGE AMUSEMENTS

BRAND NEW VAUDEVILLE AT BIJOU THEATRE

A program of snappy, brand new vaudeville is to be offered the patrons of the Bijou theatre beginning tonight and for a solid week the little theatre should be filled with appreciative audiences.

Included on the program is the Topsy Turvy trio, which is playing at Chicago this week; Fred V. Russell, the musical Chinaman, who comes here direct from New York; Gallbreth and Fassel, song and dance comedians have been secured from the Pacific slope and Miss Jenny Bentley, the wonderful foot juggler has just returned to this country after a tour of all the larger cities of Europe. Another new and novel illustrated song will be sung by the eminent baritone, Will Armond.

One of the principal features of the show will be the "Whitcaps" shown in the Bijouetoscope, a vivid representation of a chase for an unwelcome citizen, whom the Vigilance committee decides will be better off out of town.

Next Wednesday's Swell Show

"In the Bishop's Carriage," the play at the La Crosse theatre Wednesday, Nov. 22, is a very remarkable one. It deals frankly with a criminal one "Nance Olden," a young girl thief and the problem afforded by her reclamation. It is a well known fact statistics say that two thirds of our criminal classes are of the very young. Consequently the many societies scattered throughout the United States for the prevention of crime have had many such as "Nance Olden" under observation, and they are familiar with her kind. To the social element which knows, however, nothing of how the under world lives this play will come as a distinct shock, and will appeal to them from its very novelty. Its only known parts to be known to the stage is "Leah Kleschna," made famous by Mrs. Fiske. Although similar "Leah Kleschna" and "Nance Olden" are still very far apart, there is only the suggestion of sameness. The novel "In the Bishop's Carriage" has had a large sale and has been one of the big sellers of the past few years: Its dramatization by Channing Pollock shows many signs of the master hand. It has the action and the lines and it is skillfully built with few of the flaws common to book plays visible. Liebler & Co. have given the play a handsome stage setting and an excellent company of players to portray its numerous characters.

JEROME HAS LETTER FROM LONGFELLOW

Jerome K. Jerome, the English humorist, who appears here under the auspices of the La Crosse Press club, soon, whose "Three Men In a Boat" has been translated into every language, attained his success only after a series of discouragements, which would have crushed a less resolute man. He exhibits, with some pride, the following letter, which he explains was in reply to one of his own, in which he thanked the poet for strength he had found in his lines:

"Cambridge, Mass., July 2, 1879.
"My Dear Young Frigid: Your letter has given me much pleasure. I am happy to know that any words of mine have cheered and strengthened you. With my best wishes for your happiness and success in life, I am,
"Yours very truly,
"HENRY W. LONGFELLOW."
The letter came at a time of sore discouragement. He could not get any one to look at his manuscript, and only the most indomitable faith and perseverance could have sustained him. Publisher after publisher told him it was rubbish—yet when it was brought out over one hundred thousand copies were sold the first year! Mr. Jerome is at his best as an entertainer. His readings of his own creations are unique and most diverting.

ORCHESTRA REHEARSAL OF U. C. T. SHOW

An orchestra rehearsal was held Thursday evening by the U. C. T. Minstrels and Prof. Dana's orchestra of fourteen pieces. The soloists and chorus went through their parts like clock work, reflecting great credit on themselves and Mr. Gransen who has been rehearsing them.

The latter was jubilant over the successful handling of his music and says if he had the same opportunity to introduce it to the outside world that he has locally, he would have no fear for its future.

Manager Conway has been busier than a life insurance president the past few days, arranging his program, looking after the making of the costumes, and putting on the finishing touches. He says that all is in readiness now and all that remains is to keep the "edge on."

The advance sale of tickets has been very large and there will be a big rush for reserved seats Thursday morning, when the sale opens.

JEROME EXAMPLE OF YOUNG DETERMINATION

Jerome K. Jerome, the actor-author, who is to appear in a humorous recital at the La Crosse theatre on Dec. 6th, under the auspices of the La Crosse Press club, is a brilliant example of the results of dogged perseverance applied to an energetic desire to succeed. His early efforts were all failures. As an actor, as a clerk, as an author, he was for years a ridiculous failure, but he possessed the fortitude to look at these effects good-humoredly and afterwards actually turned them into his available capital. Had he succeeded as an actor for his stepping-stone to literature. "On The Stage and Off," would doubtless never have been written. As an entertainer he is inimitable, so much of his personality is injected into his performance.

OPENING CONCERT NEXT SUNDAY

Kreutz's celebrated La Crosse orchestra, which gives its opening Sunday afternoon concert at Germania hall next Sunday afternoon is now perfecting the execution of a number of the latest New York musical successes for its opening appearance. Miss Grace McLindon is the soloist and will sing "A China Tragedy." This season the concerts will be given twice monthly, instead of weekly as last season. It is certain, however, that the Germania will be the mecca for lovers of the best music every time the famous orchestra appears, as it was last season.

Mrs. Will Fitting and little daughter have returned to their home at Houston after a visit with the former's mother, Mrs. P. A. Worth, of North Ninth street.

The Topsy Turvy Trio and other features will make the Bijou show this week the very best vaudeville procurable.

BROKEN TRAIN TEARS UP PLATFORM ON NORTH SIDE

Had the train which was wrecked at the north side depot been running at a faster rate of speed it would no doubt have torn the depot down, but fortunately it had just slacked up for the bridge. The accident happened about 9:30 yesterday morning. A train had just pulled in from the east and the greater part of it had passed by, north of the depot, when suddenly a car in the middle of the train jumped the switch, east of the mill street crossing, and started the remainder of the train down the track just south of the depot, dragging several cars between the two tracks as they went along and tearing the platform into kindling, beside snapping off the electric light post.

It is thought that a flange on one of the wheels of the car which sprung the switch must have been worn.

Several men who were standing near the depot when the accident occurred ran toward the round house as fast as possible as they said they thought the train would certainly strike the depot. Edward Coster, the caller who was standing at the light post, which was snapped off, started out at once, the top of the pole nearly striking him as it came down. The sand under the platform was very soft and the wheels of the cars were entirely buried and this also tended to stop the train as otherwise it might have run on and damaged the depot. Fortunately no one was injured and traffic was not delayed.

came in from the fair grounds about 7 and spent the evening about the streets. He saw the street performances and afterwards spent some time in the Hub and Heileman saloons. He met Martineau about 11:30 in the Hub. They went up stairs and watched Roberts, whom he worked for, play the wheel. The two boys left there about 1:30 and went to the Bronson hotel. After that they went out looking for Martineau's boss, the latter being after his suit case. They were arrested in the restaurant a short time later.

BOY DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Russell Elwood Nelson, the one-year-old boy of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Nelson of 1522 Loomis street, died this morning at about 2:30. Death resulted from pneumonia with which he had been ill for about a week. The parents are very much grieved over his sudden death. The funeral will be held from the house tomorrow afternoon, Rev. E. O. Vik officiating and A. Sletten in charge. Interment will be made in the Oak Grove cemetery.

HOT POKER IN HIS EYE MAY CAUSE BLINDNESS

Clarence Whipple, turn table engineer at the Milwaukee round house, came near losing the sight of one of his eyes yesterday when he accidentally stuck a hot poker in it. He had just finished poking the fire in the engine, the fire box of which is up rather high, and had the poker resting on the latch when an engine was run onto the turntable, the sudden jolt throwing the poker of the latch into his eye.

Dr. F. C. Suiter attended to the injury and expects to save the eye although the injury was very serious.

Cowper wrote that "to follow foolish precedents, and to wink with both our eyes, is easier than to think!" but this is not true of modern business life, especially of advertising, in which even the best precedents are followed but a little while and then easily passed on the road; and in which to wink with either eye—at lethargy and inaction—is to invite wreck and disaster.

OLSON BREAKS GAME LAWS

Resorts to Strategy to Ensnare Rabbits--The Notorious Larry a Co-conspirator

A Stoddard Trio Plays "Nimrod" to the Tune of a Hot Proposition

"We'll take Olsen with us," said The Other Man.

"Sure, an its bad luck ye'll be takin wid ye if ye do," expostulated Larry. "O' niver cud place too much distance betwene me an wan uv thim unshofistichated hathan frum Fish-land."

"Oh, that'll be all right," The Other Man assured him. And they took Olsen.

"Ah har never scoot sum rabbits," complained Olsen. "Ah skall miss him, maybe."

"The surest way it to put salt on their tails," suggested The Other Man.

"Oim tolt these rabbits round here run wid their tails bechune their legs, loik a frightened pup," said Larry, "but do as oim tellin yez and yez'll git plenty uv 'em. That ye will, Olsen me by. Tha do say," continued Larry, "thot if yez run a pace o' hozo down the rabbit hole so the far ind is pasht Mither Bunny and holler in the other ind, he'll thurn tail and lep out o' th' hole ferninst yer fase. Thin yez schoots him at yer lazure."

Olsen got the hose. They went to Olsen, every hole was a rabbit hole, and he plunged his rubber tube into one after another, pursed his lips and vociferated in a way that must have sounded like "Hell Up to Date" down there in the bowels of the earth. But never a rabbit showed.

Larry and The Other Man went into convulsions behind his back, but managed to show up with straight faces each time when the assault was over. "Shure," whispered Larry, "the poor devil'll hove a hare lip frum scratchin' rabbit talk. Till 'im to shand ferninst th' outside an' make a noise loik a cabbage."

"Ah tank Mr. Rabbit, him skall not understand Swedish pretty goot. Ah thank Ah'll going home sum," was Olsen's final verdict.

And when they had told everybody in town about it, and how Olsen didn't get a single rabbit, that gentleman replied. "Ah tank ah got sum much lak dem oder fallars. Ah don't see sum rabbit foots tied to dar watch handles, ba golly."

The game warden has been notified, as it is as much a misdemeanor to attempt to kill game in an illegal manner as it is to actually succeed in killing it wrongly.

IT PAYS TO WATCH THE OPPORTUNITY

HOW A LA CROSSE INVESTOR PICKED UP A "SCOOP"

"In this age of Frenzied Finance," said a well known businessman yesterday, "it is well to look out for fraud. But the suspicious man loses chances because of his skepticism, and while we must 'look out for fraud,' we must also 'look into opportunity.' 'For instance,' the man continued, 'a few weeks ago I observed in a local newspaper this little advertisement:

"HAVE YOU A DEPOSIT IN ANY SAVINGS BANK?"

"If so write us today and we will send FREE a booklet which is of vital importance to you."

"If you are contemplating an investment of any kind SEND FOR OUR BOOKLET. It will show you something of latter day finance and modern methods of income production."

"Our booklet will interest you deeply and IT IS FREE. Send today."

"UNITED INDUSTRIAL SECURITIES CO."

"170 Broadway, New York."

"I at once became interested, and I wrote the company. I got a prompt reply, and that too, interested me. I wrote again for further information, and I am now about to make an investment that I am satisfied is a good one; it is conservative, yet offers big returns; it is an exemplification of the advantages of modern methods in quick, safe money making."

"What was it? That is my business. You write and find out, if you want to know."

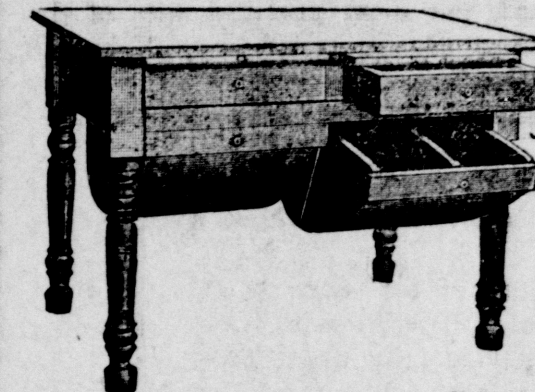

That was all the gentleman said. What his good opportunity was, none of his hearers knew, though some of them may have inquired by letter. The man is a sane financier, and it is safe to say that a proposition that interested him was worth looking into at the cost of any man's time. The incident simply illustrates the wisdom of inquiring into investment chances, for the intelligent man is in no danger of being "bitten," and the wise man picks out the "winners," and grows financially prosperous.

TO MERCHANT ADVERTISERS.

It is of importance to every merchant in this city that he know as nearly as possible the relative circulations of the newspapers in which he advertises.

So far as the city is concerned, the most practical way of determining circulation is by a canvass of the entire city. This will eliminate the possibility of "padding."

We therefore make this offer to the La Crosse Retail Merchants' Association:

The Tribune will contribute to the Merchants' Association one-third (1-3) the expense of such a canvass, upon the following conditions:

A committee to have charge of the canvass shall be chosen at a regular meeting of the association, said committee to be elected, and not appointed by the chair.

The fact that said committee is to be elected shall be advertised in the daily papers at least one week prior to said meeting.

Said committee shall employ canvassers to make a systematic canvass of the city, and said canvassers shall report by blocks the exact number of subscribers each paper has in each and every block in the city.

Canvassers shall also make inquiry of subscribers as to whether they have ordered any papers coming to their homes, whether they read them, and expect to pay for them, and whether they have ordered any papers stopped that continue to come to their homes, and whether any such papers are "sample copies," or are delivered on approval.

Of course the Leader-Press and The Chronicle will agree to defray one-third each of this expense, so there should be no delay in causing the canvass to be made. Or perhaps they will decline, "for business reasons."

THE THEFT OF ITS "INFLUENCE."

A disturbance has come to the peaceful haunts of the National Association of Manufacturers. We have all read how the busy Mr. Parry, assuming to be talking for this association, has put it on record as "standing pat" in a body against the plans of the president (and the public) to secure some intelligent supervision and regulation of railroad rates. He has made it strong, and such papers as the Milwaukee Sentinel, La Crosse Chronicle, and the big newspapers of which these are the small types, have given due space to the stuff and ample badge of authority by connecting Parry's name with the Association whenever mentioning the "opposition."

But now come divers members of the association who say Mr. Parry has no authority to speak! They call attention to the last official action of the association which was to UNANIMOUSLY pass on May 16 last, the following resolution emphatically supporting the administration view:

"Resolved, That we favor active enforcement by the executive department of the general government of all existing laws to prevent the giving or acceptance of rebates or special favors (through whatever device) to or by favored shippers, and we call upon the interstate commerce commission to apply all the remedies at its disposal as provided by the original interstate commerce act and the Elkins act amending the same.

"Resolved, That if the existing laws for the detection and punishment of the giving or acceptance of such rebates are insufficient or defective in any respect, we favor the enactment of such legislation as may be necessary adequately to deal with the evil, and to secure its complete prevention.

"Resolved, That, in order to carry into effect the provisions of the foregoing resolutions, congress should be asked for a provision to be made for the necessary examination of the books of the railroad corporations something after the manner of the national banks examinations for the purpose of detecting and eliminating special favors and discriminations against the small or less favored shippers and a provision for adequate punishment for improper disclosure of confidential information so gained."

That there are many men in the National Association of Manufacturers, who like Mr. Parry are "against regulation," is very true. That there are many who are not is equally true, as witness the protests against Parryism and the UNANIMOUSLY adopted resolutions favoring the Roosevelt plan. It all simmers down to this, that men who get rebates for the most part want rebates and do not want "regulation" while men who do not get rebates and are not in the employ or under the influence of those who do get them want regulation to protect them from the rebate takers.

MERCHANTS WILL APPROVE THIS.

That this city has made provision in its budget for the much needed improvement of the La Crescent causeway, is one of the satisfying portions of the city news of last week.

Nearly a year ago, in support of its contention that this step should be taken at once, The Tribune printed the results of a careful inquiry by which it was positively shown that more than half the farm products, including live stock, agricultural crops and fruits, that are marketed in this city come from the Minnesota side.

This may come from a La Crosse newspaper as a confession rather than a boast, but it is an actual condition that must be given weight in determining the city's duty toward the country sections. These people want a market; they want a means of reaching it. They want a free bridge, and some day they will get it and the foolish embargo on our best trade will have been removed. Until they do get a free bridge, the roads the Minnesota farmers pay toll for traveling should be kept in decent repair.

The city will have the thanks of the merchant public for the improvement of the causeway.

A GREAT PLANT ITS OWN DEFENDER.

"This plant was never built to 'consolidate.'" That is what a visitor at the new establishment of the Wisconsin Light & Power company on the evening of the recent public pilgrimage to that place, said.

That was the emphatic dictum, also, of every man who has seen the new plant. And the great structure with its splendid equipment, representing a mammoth investment, furnish indisputable logic to this assertion. Compare it with the Central Electric plant, remember what the latter little factory did in competition with the Light Trust, and one readily sees how great the strength of this really wonderful new and modern institution will be and that it cannot afford to amalgamate with the handicapped outfit of the old Monopoly, even were it inclined to dishonesty.

"Norris Bacheller said he was sorry he voted for this plant—said it in open meeting. We were all sorry to hear him, and I wonder what he would say were he to see it now." So said a brother alderman, probably quoting one of the old leader's insincere outbursts that at times slipped by his usually cautious lips in moments of pique. We believe he wouldn't be sorry now.

Another visitor referred to the opposition to this plant which, as floor leader for the old public utility ring, Alderman George M. Heath interposed in the council. "I propose to do my part to protect the people," said the miller when discussing his proposal to hamper the new company with bonds the purpose of which was to make their stocks unsalable and their bonds deadwood in the market. What a startling contrast between this "dear people" stand of the brilliant if spectacular Mr. Heath, and his position when a little more than two years before he stood up in the same council chamber and offered an ordinance extending the franchises of the then recently organized Light Trust for a further period of twenty-five years at the impossible rate of 20 cents a kilowatt! And everybody knew he was hitched by the same drivers to the same load he attempted to pull on that former occasion. That is why neither load reached the top of the hill.

JUST LIFE

Now when the war is ended And the quarrelsome Muscovite Is slowly being bended To the will of Count de Witte; Just when we should be tranquil And of a world-peace dream Just when we should be thankful— We have the football team.

Now if Tom Lawson's dreams could only come true.

Looks as though the administration was trying to smother the tariff revision with a rate question blanket.

The latest threat of the anarchist is against Prince Louis. Louis lost no time in demanding a double guard.

Fourteen hundred sailors deserted the British squadron at New York. Perhaps the tars haven't recovered from that beer dinner.

There's little solace in an apology to the man who has the black eye.

If the old adage "love your neighbor as yourself" were fulfilled what a world of lovers this would be.

"To ask timidly is to invite denial. This is one of the elemental things to learn about advertising—for nobody (except the man's wife and his creditors) waits to see the last straggler in a procession. The "timid asker," sure of denial, uses timid space, timid phrases—and, in the jargon of the hour he "gets his."

You are not a "good manager" unless you are a regular reader of the store-ads, for your money will not "go" nearly so far if you are a little "rusty" on prices, and places and times to buy.

A VICIOUS HABIT.

Charlotte Russe.

Charlotte russe is one of the easiest as well as one of the best desserts ever invented. It is a pity that so many women accept the poor substitute sold at the bakeries. The mixture used by bakers is, of course, not cream at all. No one knows what it is, in the majority of cases. Real charlotte russe filling is whipped cream, mixed with other materials as desired. For example, a very good charlotte is made with whipped cream, powdered sugar to taste and chopped nuts. Glace fruit of every description is also used. It is very easy to devise new mixtures, and after a time one has two or three prime favorites of which the family never tire. The cake used may be plain sponge cake or lady fingers. Small paper molds are to be purchased, when individual charlottes are wanted. As a rule these are better than the large molded charlotte, as each person is given more cake.—New York Post.

Care of Our Best China. Yes, there is science in it. Do not forget when washing gilt edged china or any delicate china with gilt designs that it must not be wiped dry. It should merely be placed on the table or in a large pan to drain until dry. Wiping such china will wear off the gold. China of this kind should never be washed in water containing borax, ammonia or soap. A piece of flannel-ette should be placed over each of the gilded plates and saucers that are piled together in the china closet. This protects the gilt from scratches.

Shoe Screen. A Serviceable Piece of Furniture For the Bedroom. A shoe screen will be found a very serviceable piece of furniture for the bed or dressing room, and a simple one can be made from the pattern shown in the illustration by any clever woman.

The framework of this screen is made from pine or white wood, and the sticks are an inch thick by two inches and a half in width.

Its height can be governed to suit the room in which it may be placed, but for general use it can measure five feet high, and each wing may be thirty inches wide.

The bottom cross rails for each wing are four inches above the floor, and fifteen inches above them another rail is placed, against which the shoe pockets are attached. The sides of the screen are separated by a strip of wood four inches wide, to which the wings are fastened by means of hinges. This piece will allow the screen to be partially closed with shoes in the pockets.

The wings are to be covered with some effective material, such as china silk, cretonne or silkoline, and fastened at the edges with small tacks, over which gimp may be placed and caught down at regular distances with brass headed nails.

Pockets of denim in a color to match the draping material are made and securely tacked in place against the middle cross rail, and on one of the wings a narrow foot shelf or ledge may be supported on brackets that are screwed fast to the side uprights of the wing.—New York Herald.

THE WEHNKE-JANDE WEDDING ROMANCE

Story of a La Crosse Couple That Went From Wisconsin to Texas

When the wedding of Mr. H. C. A. Wehnke, of Beaumont, Texas, and Miss Annie T. Jande was solemnized at the home of the young woman's parents at No. 1313 Madison street, last Wednesday, none but the intimate friends of the young couple knew that it was the culmination of a romance that had sent the groom twice across the United States and covered two years of love and sorrow.

Two years ago Mr. Wehnke paid his suit to Miss Jande, but his wooing fell upon unlistening ears. The girl did not know her own mind. She liked the freedom of single life, and withheld the coveted "yes" that would have made her suitor the happiest man in town. Finding his pleadings unavailing, Wehnke finally turned his back on La Crosse and the girl of his choice, and nursing a deep resentment sought to forget his troubles in the infinite areas of the great southwest. He located at Beaumont, where he became a wood turner upon a liberal salary. La Crosse knew him no more.

But with the departure of her lover, Miss Jande discovered something. She loved him. She missed his attentions, and her daily life held no joys for her. She just wanted Wehnke to beat the band.

For over a year maidenly modesty impelled her to suffer in silence, hoping from day to day that he would return or write her. But Wehnke was angry and obdurate. His pride had been cut deep, and he would not again humble himself at her feet. Then she put conventionalities be-

La Follette's Thanks- giving Proclamation

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 20.—Gov. La Follette has issued the following Thanksgiving day proclamation:

"The year now drawing to a close has left its deep impress upon the life of this generation. It calls to us for thanksgiving and prayer. It has been a year of bountiful harvests, of business prosperity, of social order, happiness and good health throughout the commonwealth. The people of this state are a part of the nation. Whatever makes for advancement, ment, security, in sister states and in our common country, vitally concerns each citizen of every community.

"The passing year has been one of revelation and progress. In our own state and in the nation official wrongdoing has been expressed and civic weakness uncovered.

"The responsibilities of citizenship have greatly increased. The public conscience has greatly quickened. Higher standards of official integrity are assured. We should return thanks for all our blessings and pray for their continuance. We should appeal for strength to meet the obligations of life and to discharge each duty with fidelity. We should accept all the gifts of God, bestowed upon us so abundantly, with grateful recognition of his providence and of His unvarying laws, which concern the world's advancement.

"By authority of law, in keeping with hallowed custom, and in conformity with the proclamation of the president of the United States, I Robert M. La Follette, governor of the state of Wisconsin, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, Nov. 30, 1905, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

"Let the day be observed by rest from toil, by appropriate services in places of public worship in our homes and by our firesides. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed. Done at the capitol in the city of Madison, this eighteenth day of November, 1905.

"By the governor,

"ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE,

"W. L. Houser, Sec. of State."

Gentlemen-- A Word with You

Look about you in business houses, offices, hotels and other places frequented by well-dressed men and you will find that a major percentage wear clothes that were purchased at this store. This reveals—what? The almost marvelous development of ready-to-wear attire. That the former evils and weaknesses of prepared-in-advance clothes have vanished utterly and science so perfected them that they receive the same consideration as other necessities which please well groomed men.

This is due to science, intelligence, thought and constant endeavor. These elements can surmount any obstacle. Not many years ago it seemed an affront to appear at any sort of gathering in any but custom-made garments. Put now, ready-for-service clothes are worn anywhere and everywhere without fear of the finger of scorn. This proves education and how actual merit will compel recognition no matter how much prejudice may have existed.

How silly, therefore, in the face of such facts to say that the custom tailor is absolutely necessary in aid of fashion and tone, taste and refinement in clothes. The custom tailor cannot afford to employ the skill that is responsible for our product. He hasn't the money or the outlet or the possibilities. As a matter of fact, we are making better clothes today than the average merchant tailor and as good clothes as the best. The clearest proof of the fact rests with well dressed business men, countless numbers of whom are consistent customers of this establishment. If our clothes were lacking in any of the elements that are desirable, these men would not buy them. Their number, however, is growing greater every day and, in reality, the ones who keep the merchant tailors ARE ACTUALLY THOSE WHO CAN'T AFFORD THEIR PRICES.

Just as it costs no more for a long tip on an up-to-date trolley car now than it used to for a short one on a horse car, so the modern store, which spends money for advertising, can sell goods more cheaply than the old-fashioned store which "saves the expense of advertising."

Stunning Suits For Schoolgirls In Empire Style—Plush Wraps.

For schoolgirls in the grammar grades coats in three-quarter length cut in the empire style with slight modifications are very good models. A pretty coat of this description has a straight panel back and front, with an arrangement of straps across the side indicating the short waisted effect of the empire. Such a model has brettelette straps on the shoulders and a flat, round collar of velvet trimmed with braids. The sleeves have a good deal of fullness at the shoulder and are brought into the cuff band by a series of tuckings. The small turnover cuffs are round at the upper edges and faced with velvet which has several lines of silk braid upon it. Odd metal buttons trim the straps and fasten the coat in double breasted fashion down the front.

A stunning jacket that will appeal to the schoolgirl is of three-quarter length made of dark green kersey. It is full in box style, with double breasted front. The neck finishes with a small shawl collar trimmed with soutache braid put on in a scalloped design. The turned over cuff is trimmed in the same way, and handsome metal buttons serve as fastenings. There are capacious pockets on each side of the fronts, and the coat is lined throughout with changeable silk. The skirt that accompanies this jacket is a round, plaited model.

Plush, velvet and fur wraps are to be much worn this winter for evening. Plush is so delightfully warm that it is a wonder it has staid out of fashion so long. Delicate mauve and faint unusual tones of pink are most attractive for this wrap, while blue from palest robin's egg to turquoise is effective.

The evening gown illustrated is of white silk. The skirt has an exquisite border of lilac blossoms worked in natural colored silks. The bodice has a tucker of lace and brettelettes of pink velvet caught with choux. The sleeves are of pink velvet and lace.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Patterns For a Striking Harness Costume Designed by Martha Dean—Nos. 6321 and 6322

The popularity of the suspender costume has made it so common that many particular women avoid it. That the suspender style is a good one no one dares to deny, and if it might be developed in some other than the regular manner it would find many grateful patrons. With this in mind the accompanying design was evolved, and its rare good style and becoming lines will win for it many admirers. The waist portion consists of a fanciful bertha, through which the suspenders pass. The lower part is one with the suspenders and gives the princess effect. The skirt is a graceful circular model, having an inverted box plait in front and two in back. The woman who has found the smooth fitting skirts so becoming will welcome this with its fitted upper portion and fullness falling in graceful ripples to the lower edge. The skirt is in one piece and is cut without dart or seam, and in its cut alone rest all the novelty and merit of the mode. This once assured by a reliable pattern, nothing remains to perplex the home sewer. Sizes, No. 6321, 32 to 40 inches bust measure; No. 6322, 20 to 30 inches waist.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 20 cents to this office, give numbers of these patterns, Nos. 6321 and 6322, and state sizes desired. They will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Or either of the patterns will be sent for 10 cents. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

DOUBLY DEAR.

She: "Am I as dear to you now as I was before we were married?"
He: "I can't tell. I didn't keep account of my expenses then."

THE MOUTH.

Cultivate Its Charms and Teach It How to Smile.

It is Ruskin who points out that in the human race alone the mouth is a mark of beauty and may be made to convey a great deal of expression, even though the lips are silent. Beginning with those lower orders of creatures which can scarcely be said to have mouths at all and running up the gamut of beasts to dogs and horses, which are about the most highly educated of our dumb kin, the mouth is everywhere merely an organ for taking in food and making sounds, says the Philadelphia Bulletin. In man alone it becomes a mark of beauty and a means of expression.

The curve of a woman's lips can express, oh, so much! There is the proud mouth, the cynical mouth, the sensual mouth, the sympathetic mouth, the affectionate mouth, the cruel mouth. Lips that tremble can tell more of grief than many a spoken word. Lips that smile can illuminate a whole household. As a mode of expression the mouth has ever been a telling factor.

As a mark of beauty the mouth can be cultivated. It needs no beauty doctor's art to train it to pleasant lines. Teach it to smile. Refuse to let it settle into hard, cynical lines. Give it the uplift and serenity that speak more plainly than words of peace and strength. By deliberate training the mouth can be made one of the most telling, most attractive, features of a personality.

YELLOW ROOMS.

They Are Trying to the Eyes and Disturb the Nerve Centers.

A New York upholsterer who has given the subject much thought has laid down a few rules which are worth thinking about. "I have not," said he, "put yellow into a sitting room in ten years with the exception of the little that gets into a cold paper, and when I hear about Whistler's yellow room it makes me shudder.

"Yellows are all right for a hall or vestibule, but they must not be used in any room in which one rests or reads or works. Why? Because yellows do not absorb any light, but are strong reflectors, and the reflected rays of light are not only trying to the eyes, but positively affect the brain and the spirits, creating a distinct disturbance of the nervous centers. So the modern scientific decorator, at any rate, tells us, and we believe him.

"On the other hand, buffs and creams are recommended for the nursery and children's sleeping rooms because of their tonic qualities. They are better than white, which is apt to disturb the young optic nerves by its brilliancy, and are calculated to impart a cheerful but too boisterous temperament as well as a good complexion to the youngsters."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To fasten labels to tin canisters add one teaspoonful of brown sugar to one quart of paste.

If mustard is made with boiling water, with a little salt added, it will not dry and cake in the mustard pot.

When machining hard materials, such as serge or holland, oil the thread. This will prevent it constantly snapping.

An old refrigerator which has a lining of tin may be made to look cleaner by applying two coats of white paint and then two coats of white enamel.

Scraps of old, worn chamol skin strung on twine, bead fashion, and then tied into a "chamolis ball" will last for years and polish glass as nothing else will do.

Ivory knife handles which have become yellow from age and misuse may be whitened by being rubbed gently with fine sandpaper and then polished with a clean piece of chamolis skin.

BRASS CANDLESTICKS.

A housekeeper who lights her dining room and bedrooms with candles smiled at a request to explain the exquisite neatness of her brass candlesticks. "You do not scratch your brasses when you scrape the wax off," said the inquirer, "and I should like to know how you avoid doing so." The answer was that the wax was not scratched off at all. The brasses were merely plunged into hot water long enough for the bits of wax to melt and run off of their own accord. The polishing of the brass was the work of the man who took care of the furnace, since polishing brass is a matter of more muscle than the average maid possesses.

Placing the Mirror.

A well placed mirror has the effect of a pool of water in a garden. It makes reflections and a pleasant spot upon which the eyes may rest. In a dark corner a mirror is nearly equal to a window—provided it reflects a bright portion of the room. If the mantelpiece has no mirror do not add one. Decide what you wish the mirror to reflect and hang it accordingly. The room may be deficient in sunshine. Place the mirror where it will catch the reflected light, or the room may have a charming view from one window. Duplicate the view in the mirror.—Pictorial Review.

A Poem for Today

THE LAST ROSE OF SUMMER

By Thomas Moore

THOMAS MOORE, "the sweet singer of Ireland," was born at Dublin May 23, 1779, and died in England Feb. 25, 1852. Moore received a liberal education and traveled in America in 1803 and 1804. His poems, particularly "Lalla Rookh," were very successful and netted him a competency. Besides them, he wrote a life of Byron (with whom he was intimate), a history of Ireland and other works. He is now the most popular of Irish poets.

THIS is the last rose of summer,
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone;
No flower of her kindred,
No rosebud is nigh,
To reflect back her blushes,
Or give sigh for sigh.
I'll not leave thee, thou lone one,
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go, sleep thou with them.

Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.
So soon may I follow,
When friendships decay,
And from love's shining circle
The gems drop away.
When true hearts lie withered,
And fond ones are flown,
Oh, who would inhabit
This bleak world alone?

FIT FOR A KING

Is the "Oriental Limited" of the Great Northern Railway.

The greatest luxury of travel is afforded by the "Oriental Limited" of the Great Northern Railway. A distinctive feature of this train is the new compartment observation library car. In the construction of these cars the purpose in view has been to furnish the traveling public with every comfort and luxury which they could secure at a first-class hotel or at their club. Ease, elegance and excellence is the combination sought and obtained in the building of these cars. The observation rooms of these cars are finished in vermilion wood and the chairs are upholstered in green leather, the remainder of the furnishings being in harmony with the general color scheme. The card room is finished in English oak, with green leather seat coverings. The four state rooms, which are unusually large, are finished in mahogany, coco, vermillion and tonquin, while the furnishings are olive, reddish rose, green and maroon plush, in the order named. The drawing room is finished in mahogany and all furnishings are golden brown plush.

The rear half of these cars is devoted to observation room, handsomely furnished with easy chairs, writing desks, etc. Wide plate glass windows afford unobstructed views of the surrounding country. Those who enjoy being in the open air will find comfortable seats on the protected rear platform.

Current periodicals, a branch of the Booklovers' Library, also the latest newspapers obtainable at starting point and en route are always at the service of patrons.

A good meal enhances the pleasure of a journey, a poor one destroys it. It is safe to say that of this important feature of modern train equipment, the Great Northern railway has established a standard for excellence which helps make an overland journey something to anticipate. All meals served a la carte.

ODIN OLSON GOES TO POOR FARM

Odin Olson, a resident of the north side for many years, has been committed to the county poor farm. The approach of winter found him in poor financial condition to withstand the ravages of the cold, and the county authorities deemed it best to find a home for him at the farm, where he will be comfortable.

Olson has for years eked out an existence peddling advertising matter and doing other little odd jobs. He is a profound reader and student and will find enough books at the farm to occupy his time during the winter months.

NEW CAUSEWAY TO COST $18,375

That a second causeway can be built to connect the north and south sides for $18,375 is the opinion of City Engineer Woods, who presented estimates and plans to the common council Friday night.

The estimate calls for a right of way 200 feet wide situated half way between the present causeway and the town of Campbell road on the east of the swamp. Filling to a depth of 6 1/2 feet would be required and it is planned to have the roadway 24 feet broad at the top.

The report of the engineering department was referred to a committee of four to be appointed by the mayor, he to be its chairman. The entire council will meet at the city hall Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and in a body view the plans of the La Crosse Rubber Mills company and the Summit Foundry company, which it is planned to benefit by the construction of the proposed new causeway.

The board of public works was authorized to advertise for bids for the sale of the central fire station property. Three possible purchasers are now in the field, F. P. Hixon, William Neumister and the Auto Rapid Transit company.

The board of public works was authorized to advertise for bids for replanking the wagon bridge. A new flooring of wood and steel can be constructed for $700 according to an estimate, while all wood construction would cost $4,500. The money for the repairs is not available and it may be necessary to resort to bonding.

The ordinance providing for the repeal of Alderman Lang's sidewalk ordinance was passed.

Ripon and Its Help From Carnegie

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 20.—President R. C. Hughes of Ripon college, in passing through Milwaukee today enroute for the east on his annual visit to the eastern friends of the Wisconsin college, told the story of the negotiations with Andrew Carnegie which resulted in the securing of the library endowment of $40,000 which was ensured this week.

"There seems to be a mistaken idea among the papers of the state," he said, "about the Carnegie endowment fund. He did not give us the money with the understanding that we were to erect a library building. We did not want a building, and when he offered us one we refused it. We have buildings enough, and do not need the extra library. He then gave us the $20,000 with the understanding that we were to get an additional $20,000 from other sources to put with it. For some time I have been working to get the needed endowment, and Mrs. Hopkins' generosity completed the amount needed.

"We will put the money out on mortgages as soon as possible and will realize at least $2,000 yearly from the fund. This will support our library nicely and allow us to add to it from time to time.

"Ripon is rapidly gaining in reputation," Dr. Hughes continued, "and is becoming more widely known throughout the country every year. The greatest reason for the rapid advancement during the past few years is the waking up of the alumni. They are organizing all over the country and becoming acquainted with each other. Working together they advertise the college among the general public. Ripon already enjoys the best reputation among the colleges of the country. Graduates and students are recognized all over the country, and at all of the big universities. President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin has even recommended Ripon college in several of his speeches."

COMPLETE NORTH SIDE WATER MAIN

At the rate of 475 feet per day a big water main construction contract on the north side has been completed by Contractors Forestall and Downey of Milwaukee in three weeks. The last work was done today. The contractors are making a grim fight to complete their contracts here before freezing up time and local contractors are being treated to a sample of rapid construction work.

The men will be moved to the south side tomorrow to start in on a contract of seventeen blocks of pipe. Even greater efforts will be put forth on this side as winter is nearly here.
